Jack Privetera

Jack Privetera is the proud owner of Privetera's, a family business founded by his father in 1911. Jack's connection to the business began early as he started working there as a young child, earning a nickel for every flat of flowers he assembled. In 1985, encouraged by his mother, Jack took over the family business and carried its legacy forward with pride. Under his leadership, Privetera's has grown into a full-service landscaping company offering expert commercial and residential services, including patios, pavers, fencing, and more. The business also features a thriving nursery filled with beautiful plants and shrubs, along with a successful florist operation known for its quality and artistry.

Outside of work, Jack's lifelong passion has always been baseball. He played throughout his youth and into college, graduating from Bloomfield College, where he honed the teamwork and perseverance that still defines him today.

Jack also inherited his mother's deep sense of philanthropy. He learned the importance of giving back from her and her dear friend, Countess Buxhoveden, who together founded the first Winter Globe Ball for the ARC Foundation at the Shore Casino in 1966. When the Countess passed in 2002, Jack established the Anabelle Foundation to honor both women and continue their legacy of generosity and community support.

Today, Jack continues to give back, supporting organizations such as the Count Basie Theatre, The ARC, the Beauty Foundation, Hackensack Meridian Health, and of course, Single Parents with MS.
